INTRODUCTION:

Shree Saraswati College of Nursing, Tondavali organized world breast feeding week with a view to create awareness among Mothers practice, Emphasize & educate exclusive breast feeding.

Every year, countries around the world observe World Breastfeeding Week for a good reason: breastfeeding is one of the most effective ways to provide children everywhere with the best start to life. This year, the World Health Assembly embraced the annual celebration of World Breastfeeding Week by Member States as a valuable way to advocate for the protection, promotion and support of breastfeeding everywhere.

The Theme of this year's World Breastfeeding Week is

“Step up for Breastfeeding: Educate and Support”

- A recognition of the importance of breastfeeding to a baby's future.
- Establishing Exclusive Breast Feeding.
- Feeding infants nothing but breast milk for the first six months of life
- Helps young children grow, preventing under nutrition, promoting brain development, and reducing the risk those children will become overweight.

Breastfeeding is also a newborn's first vaccine, providing vital antibodies and an immunity boost.

From the earliest moments of a child's life, breastfeeding can mean the difference between life and death. Putting newborns to the breast within the first hour of life safeguards against newborn deaths. In fact, improving breastfeeding practices could save the lives of 820,000 children under age of five each year.

And in emergency settings, when communities are faced with limited access to clean water and basic health services, breastfeeding guarantees a safe, nutritious and accessible food source for infants and young children, while shielding them from disease

As we mark this year's World Breastfeeding Week, let us also recommit to doing more to help every child, everywhere, realize the lifesaving benefits of breastfeeding, no matter where they live.
